Introduction

Since 1972, Micromedia have been a leader in the production and delivery of well-managed Canadian information. In February, 2002 Micromedia joined the ProQuest group of companies to form Micromedia ProQuest.

Micromedia ProQuest's reputation has been built on making Canadian resources easier to find and use. Microform provides an inexpensive, convenient, and space-saving way to access source documents.

Where required by the size of the original, 16mm or 35mm microfilm is used. More often, titles are available on microfiche. In some cases, there is a choice of microfilm or microfiche. The citations in the catalogue indicate "mf" for microfiche, "46" or "35" for microfilm.

The final page of this catalogue contains more detailed information about ordering and technical specifications.

For further information please contact our your representative at (800) 521-0600 x 2793.

The Importance of Government Documents

Government documents tell the history of a nation in detail. From reports on fishery production to major international treaties, almost every aspect of society is documented in reports by local, provincial and federal agencies.

Many libraries recognize the importance of government documents to researchers in political science, history and law. But Canadian government documents are also of interest to genealogists, sociologists, naturalists, geologists, and educators.

Although many Canadian government documents are available online, they are often not well organized -- nor it is certain they will be available for any length of time. Microform provides permanent access in an efficient medium for storage.

Please take a moment to look through this catalog and explore the many areas in which you and your researchers can find vital information produced by Canadian government agencies:

Statistics Canada Publications on Microfiche

Statistical publications are often difficult to acquire. Micromedia ProQuest has done the work for libraries by gathering key documents and making them available on microfiche. Libraries can purchase the documents they need on subscription, or individually.

Statistics Canada Microfiche Collection

This is the easiest way to ensure that your library has the current publications of Statistics Canada including the latest Census of Canada releases. The Statistics Canada Microfiche Collection is shipped monthly. All publications, including dailies and weeklies, are reissued on microfiche.

The Micromedia ProQuest microfiche collection of Statistics Canada documents is based on the old catalogued series of statistical documents. Non-statistical publications from Statistics Canada are included in our Microlog microfiche collections. Many of these publications are cited in the Canadian Research Index.

Statistics Canada Backfile Collection 1850 to date

Annual Reports

Departmental Annual Reports

Documents tabled before Parliament that record agencies' activities.

This historical collection of departmental annual reports provides information on activities, statistics and special reports. Only English editions of the reports have been filmed.

From 1975, departmental annual reports appear in Microlog and are indexed in the Canadian Research Index. Titles are filmed in the original language of publication, English or French. Please inquire for prices.

Government Annual Reports & Budgets

Federal and Provincial

Micromedia ProQuest films federal and provincial Departmental Annual Reports.

Budgets & Estimates

We also film Departmental Reports submitted to legislatures as Budgets and Estimates. Recently, some Federal Departments and Agencies have omitted publishing a separate Annual Report because the information is already included in Departmental Estimates.

Agencies, Commissions, Councils, Institutes

Micromedia ProQuest has extensive coverage for Federal Agencies, Commissions, Research Councils and Institutes.

Coverage: 1880s - Current Reports

Most departmental annual reports are available starting about 1925 but some of our holdings go back to the 1800's and are as current as the reports covering last year. In many cases, we have the complete files for Federal Departments. Many governments have restructured their departments. A comprehensive list of government departments (with all of the previous and continuing departmental names) is too long for this space. Contact Micromedia ProQuest to locate the jurisdiction, department and year(s) needed.

Canadian Treaties Series

Standing orders for Canadian treaties are available only from Micromedia ProQuest.

It is not possible to receive treaties automatically from the official publisher.

Cut Staff Acquisition Time and Effort

Treaties are an acquisition nightmare. Each treaty must be ordered separately. Staff must track the ratification process in order to know when to order.

Micromedia ProQuest has collected on microfiche all treaties to which Canada has been a signatory power since 1928. Because of the irregular order in which treaties are issued, microfiche is the ideal medium for maintenance of backfile sets. Treaties since 1975 appear on discrete microfiche, so that updates may be interfiled as they appear.

Treaties are published only after ratification. This can be some years after the cover date. Indexes are compiled and published several years later. They are number 1 in each additional set. Micromedia ProQuest's collection is complete through to 1990.

Micromedia ProQuest tracks the treaties and prepares microfiche copies for individual treaties. Micromedia ProQuest's individual microfiche have clear labels indicating the treaty's date and number. Our cumulative contents list and headers help researchers use treaties.

In Micromedia ProQuest's Treaty Series, the date represents the date the treaty was in force in Canada.

Standing orders are accepted for this series, in which case libraries receive all of the treaties published (ratified) during the year. All treaties are bilingual.

Treaties are available from 1928-current.

Subscription to current edition available

A cumulative list can be supplied on request.

Department of External Affairs. Statements and Speeches

Filmed from the collection assembled by the Departmental Library, these documents, originally published as press releases, are unavailable as a complete set in any other form. A full index, prepared by the Library, is also available.
